Last closure

On Tuesday, March 1, trades in USA have come to the end with growth, on better-than-expected news on manufacturing. Manufacturing activity shrank in February for the fifth straight month as global economic troubles, a strong dollar and low oil prices continued to cast a shadow over the industry, but the contraction was less severe than anticipated. An index of factory activity rose to 49.5 from 48.2 in January, the Institute for Supply Management said Tuesday. A reading above 50 means the sector is expanding while under 50 indicates contraction. Economists expected a more modest rise to 48.5. Separately, the Commerce Department said construction spending rose 1.5% in January as outlays on nonresidential buildings and government projects rose. That was the largest gain in eight months and the highest level in eight years. On the day's result, index Dow Jones rose by 2.11%, S&P has increased by 2.39%, Nasdaq grew by 2.89%.

European stock exchanges closed with growth of main indexes. The eurozone's manufacturing PMI data for February came in slightly higher than expected tallying 50.5, compared to the prior read of 50.2 which was expected to remain steady. Meanwhile, the German labor market showed some strength with unemployment claims dropping by 10,000, although the jobless rate in the motor of the euro zone economy remained unchanged at 6.2%. On the day's result, British FTSE rose by 1.72%, DAX (Germany) has increased by 0.92%, CAC 40 (France) grew by 2.34%. February's contractual price on Brent oil, decreased by $0.01 to $35.96 per barrel.
