Stock Market Update

Equity

Kyiv-listed stocks edged higher ahead of the national parliamentary election held on Sunday (Jul 21), with the PFTS index climbing by 1.1% over the week to close at 545 points. Polls predicted (accurately) that President Zelenskiy's People's Servant (SN) party would secure around 43% of the national party list votes, implying that the president could enjoy levels of political dominance rarely seen before in Ukraine. We assume that SN will be able to form a government without the help of any junior coalition partners by securing loyalty from the independent MPs elected from geographic districts. Since becoming president, Zelenskiy has been warmly greeted by Ukraine's western backers, after his reassurances that Kyiv would maintain EU integration plans.

Among individual stocks, Raiffeisen Bank Aval (BAVL) gained 1.3% to 30.40 kopecks and CentrEnergo (CEEN) rose 1.8% to UAH 11.20. UkrNafta (UNAF) declined by 2.9% to UAH 170 after the company sold an unimpressive volume of oil at its regular monthly auction. The contract price for oil was fixed at UAH 62 per barrel.

In London trading, Ferrexpo (FXPO) had a quiet trading week, edging up by 0.9% to close at GBp 266 per share. MHP (MHPC) fell 2.9% to the USD 10 support line after news that there could be an investigation into state subsidies received by the company in 2017-2018.

Warsaw-listed agro names were lower, with Kernel (KER) dropping by 2.7% to PLN 50.60 and Astarta (AST) losing 2.5% to PLN 23.80 per share.

The hryvnia experienced elevated volatility over the week, slipping to 26.06 UAH/USD before strengthening back to 25.75 UAH/USD. The National Bank's decision to cut its key interest rate by 50 bps to 17.00% did not appear to impact the interbank currency market.

Zelenskiy's SN Dominates Russophone Districts, Wins Outright Majority

by Will Ritter w.ritter@eavex.com.ua

NEWS

The People's Servant (SN) party of new President Volodymir Zelenskiy performed much better than expected in Ukraine's parliamentary election on Sunday (Jul 21), winning an estimated 250 seats in the country's 424seat legislature. This figure will give SN a comfortable majority in the new Parliament with no need to align with any coalition partners. Although most of the focus heading into the vote was on the national party list voting, the margin of SN's victory came from the geographic district voting, whereby voters directly choose a local representative. SN is projected to win a whopping 127 out of the 199 geographic mandates, including nearly all the mandates in the country's Russian-speaking southeastern provinces. Meanwhile, in the party list voting, Zelenskiy's SN performed a bit worse than expected, picking up 42.5% of the national vote (some polls in the past month had predicted a result in the high 40s), but nonetheless far outstripped all of its competitors. The other parties entering Parliament on the party lists (based on estimates with 65% of the vote counted) are the pro-Russian Opposition Platform (13.0%), ex-President Poroshenko's European Solidarity (8.5%), Yulia Tymoshenko's Batkivschyna (8.0%), and Sviatoslav Vakarchuk's Holos (6.3%). Notable results of parties below the 5% entry barrier were 3.8% for Oleg Lyashko's Radical party (which is one of the 5 parties in the outgoing legislature), 3.7% for Igor Smeshko's Strength and Honor, 2.2% for the nationalist Svoboda Union, and 2.1% for the Ukrainian Strategy party of outgoing Prime Minister Volodymir Groysman. Total turnout in the election was reported by the CEC at 49.8%, which is a bit higher than expected for a summertime election and only about 2% below the turnout in the previous parliamentary vote in 2014.

COMMENTARY

The Zelenskiy campaign clearly was able to successfully focus its branding on the hard-to-forecast geographic races, especially those in Russian-speaking southeastern Ukraine where the former actor has his core base of support. For us, the interesting thing to watch is that now that Zelenskiy has achieved a nationwide legislative majority, we wonder how much control he and his inner circle are really going to have over what will surely be a massive, sprawling and varied political organization. Although Zelenskiy's core voters in the southeast and those in the center and west of the country voted for the same party, we are not at all sure that they were voting for the same agenda, and we expect fundamental conflicts about Zelenskiy's overall strategy to appear sooner rather than later. The immediate focus now turns to the top posts in the new ruling hierarchy; SN party leader Dmitry Razumkov is expected to become the next Parliament Speaker, while Zelenskiy said that he intends to nominate an "economist" to be Prime Minister, implying that former Finance Minister Oleksandr Danyliuk or former Economics Minister Aivaras Abromavicius could be top candidates for the job. The current government led by PM Groysman will remain in place until the new Cabinet is formed, which could occur as soon as within one month.

MHP, Ukraine's largest poultry producer, reported that its poultry sales volume increased by 18% YoY to 181,300 tonnes in 2Q19, according to the company's operational update published on Jul 17. The company's domestic market sales grew by 1% to 83,800 tonnes while exports jumped by 39% YoY to 97,400 tonnes in the period. MHP also reported that the average achieved price for its poultry rose by 2% YoY to UAH 40.06 per kilogram in 2Q19. The company said that its production facilities continued to operate at full capacity in the period. MHP's poultry sales for 1H19 rose by 20% YoY to 345,300 tonnes thanks to expanded capacity at its main facility in Vinnytsia. Separately, MHP showed operational results for its recently acquired plant in Slovenia. The plant produced 20,600 tonnes of chicken and turkey meat in 1H19.

In other business segments, MHP's sunflower oil sales were up by 26% YoY to 186,500 tonnes in 1H19 while soybean oil sales volume dropped by 23% YoY to 24,300 tonnes in the period. In the grain segment, MHP saw its spring crops in good condition, but did not report any harvest or yield figures. MHP operates a land bank of 365,000 hectares in Ukraine.

COMMENTARY

MHP's operational results were in line with expectations. The company has an existing target to increase poultry output by 15% YoY this year, and it looks quite achievable. However, it also seems that MHP's ability to create any further expansion of its poultry sales in Ukraine is very limited amid tough competition and slow market growth. Therefore the company continues to rely on exports, following a strategy of both geographic diversification and a product mix optimization.

Although MHP had fairly good operational results in 1H19, we forecast that the company's net profit will decline by 22% YoY to USD 150mn for the period. MHP is due to publish its financial results for 1H19 on Sept 3.

MHP's operational update had no measurable impact on the stock, which is infrequently traded; London-listed MHPC shares were listed at USD 10.10 last week.

Eavex Capital has a BUY rating for the stock with a target price of USD 16.50, which implies 63% upside.

Kernel's Sunflower Oil Sales Volume Up 7% YoY in Apr-Jun Quarter

NEWS

Kyiv-based, Warsaw-listed Kernel Holding, Ukraine's largest sunflower oil producer, reported an increase in its sunflower sales volume by 7% YoY to 445,000 tonnes in the Apr-Jun quarter (the company's 4Q19 in its July to June reporting calendar), according to an operational update published on Jul 17. The company's oilseeds processing also grew by 7% YoY in the period, reaching 896,000 tonnes of seeds. Meanwhile, for full-year 2019 (which ended in June), Kernel increased its sunflower seed crushing volume by only 1% YoY to 3.16mn tonnes. The crushing volume was the highest in the company's history. Sunflower oil sales volumes rose by 15% YoY in the full-year period to 1.62mn tonnes. In other key business segments, Kernel demonstrated an impressive grain sales growth of 2.2x YoY to 10.44mn tonnes in full-year 2019, while in 4Q19 alone the grain trading volume grew by 57% YoY to 2.47mn tonnes.

COMMENTARY

Kernel's operational results in its core sunflower oil segment were somewhat below our expectation of low double digit growth for the Apr-Jun quarter. Nonetheless, an impressive increase in grain trading amid the record high harvest in Ukraine once again proved Kernel's strong position on the market. We believe that the company's modern storage infrastructure and motivated management team were the main factors behind the success in the grain segment. Kernel posted a net profit of USD 190mn for the 9-month June-March period (+3.7x YoY). We forecast that the company will report net profit of USD 50mn for the April-June quarter bringing its full-year net profit to USD 240mn (+4.6x YoY). Kernel is due to report its full-year financial results for 2019 in mid-October.

We estimate that Kernel is now valued at trailing P/E of 4.4x. Eavex Capital has a BUY recommendation for the KER stock with a target price of PLN 82 per share, implying an upside of 62%. The publication of the Apr-Jun operating results had a NEUTRAL impact on Kernel's share price on the Warsaw Stock Exchange. The stock, which is the second-most liquid Ukrainian equity issue behind London-listed Ferrexpo, traded at PLN 50.60 on Friday (Jul 19).

| Agriculture | | | | | | |
| Kernel | KER PW | 50.6 | 82.0 | 62% | BUY | With on-demand borrowing access, Kernel is well placed to further consolidate its position in the oilseed crushing industry. The company's sunflower oil sales grew by solid 40% YoY to 389,600 tonnes despite oilseeds processing increased by moderate 7.0% YoY in January-March 2019. Kernel's sunflower oil sales volume rose by 17.8% YoY to roughly 1.17mn tonnes for the 9 months ending Mar 31 (the company has a July-to-June reporting calendar). The company's grain trading volumes increased by 2.6x YoY to 7.97mn tonnes in the 9 months ending Mar 31 and export terminal throughput rose by 5.8% YoY to 4.71mn. The company aims to achieve EBITDA of USD 500mn by 2021. |
| МНР | MHPC LI | 10.1 | 16.5 | 63% | BUY | MHP could start process of deleveraging which in turn would boost the company's MCap. Also the company has a declared strategy to expand its presence on the MENA and EU markets. MHP continued to increase its export sales. MHP also reported that its poultry exports rose 47% YoY to near 93,000 tonnes in 1Q19, accounting for 56% of total sales volume, up from a share of 47% a year before. |
| Astarta | AST PW | 23.8 | - | _ | U/R | The company's net debt to EBITDA ratio surged from $1.1x$ at the end of FY17 to $5.2x$ as of end-2018. We assume that the elevated debt burden now represents a major risk for the company. |
| Agroton | AGT PW | 3.30 | 12.0 | 264% | BUY | Agroton unveiled a strategy to increase its land bank from 122,000 ha to 200,000 ha by mid-2020 securing additional lease rights and by acquiring companies that control land plots in Luhansk and Kharkiv region. |
| AvangardCo | AVGR LI | 0.3 | 0.3 | 20% | SELL | Avangardco's revenue fell by 33% YoY in FY17 despite an increase in egg sales volume by 23% YoY. We attribute this negative development to weak results in the value-added egg powder segment. Avangardco said that its egg product sales volume had plunged by 64% YoY to some 3300 tonnes, with the average pricing dropping by 23% YoY to USD 4.30/kg. |
| Iron Ore | | | | | | |

| CenterEnergo | CEEN | 11.20 | 25.60 | 129% | BUY | by 2022. The CEEN stock has been in a downward trend since October, falling from a level of UAH 18 to the current level of UAH 12 per share after yet another failed attempt to privatize the company in early December. Persisting uncertainty about whether CentrEnergo can really be privatized at a fair price has made the company a hostage of Ukrainian behind-the-scenes politics. We forecast that CentrEnergo will earn UAH 725mn this year, representing EPS of UAH 1.96. The company has recently switched another one of its power units from expensive anthracite coal to cheaper steam coal, which should improve its electricity production profitability. |
| Banks | | | | | | |

Raiffeisen Aval posted a net profit of UAH 5.09bn for FY18 (USD 187mn at the average UAH/USD rate for the period), which was 14% YoY higher compared FY17. We forecast that the bank will earn UAH 6.2bn in net profit in FY19, which would imply earnings per share of 10 kopecks. Raiffeisen Aval has been the most dividend-rich stock in the Ukrainian equity universe since 2016. The stock's dividend yield in 2017 was 20% and in 2018 it was around 22%. |

Investing in emerging markets' securities may entail certain risks. There may be limited information available on such securities. Securities of emerging markets' companies may be less liquid and their prices more volatile than securities of comparable developed markets' companies. In addition, exchange rate movements may have an adverse effect on the value of an investment.

This document is based on data we deem to be reliable, though we do not guarantee its accuracy or completeness and make no warranties regarding results from its usage. Forecasts are estimates by specialists working for us, and actual events may turn out to be fundamentally different due to unforeseen circumstances.
