The National Bank published an overview of the banking sector, in which it was noted that the net assets of Ukrainian banks increased by 18% YoY in UAH-terms to UAH 2.35 trillion in 2022. Given the weak demand for loans, banks mainly increased the volume of investments in the National Bank's certificates of deposit. The net corporate loan portfolio in hryvnia increased by only 0.5% YoY in 2022, while the foreign currency loan portfolio decreased by 24% YoY. The state support program "Affordable loans at 5-7-9% interest rate" remains the main driver of hryvnia corporate lending. The volume of the net retail loan portfolio in hryvnia decreased by 33% YoY last year. The main reason for the reduction is the increase in provisions for credit losses. The banking sector, despite significant deductions to reserves, received UAH 24.7bn in net profit in 2022. Among individual banks, Raiffeisen Bank Ukraine posted a net profit of UAH 1.5bn, and Credit Agricole Ukraine reported a rather marginal profit of UAH 31mn. There were very different financial results among state-owned banks, in particular, UkrGasBank had a net loss of UAH 2.8bn. UkrExim had a net loss of UAH 6.9bn. while Oschad posted a net profit of UAH 690mn, and PrivatBank showed a net profit of UAH 30bn, mainly due to interest income from its UAHdenominated government bonds in the portfolio. PrivatBank holds a total of UAH 236bn in government bonds (accounting for 43% of the bank's net assets).

The Raiffeisen Bank (BAVL) shares fell by 14% to 27 kopecks over the week on the Ukrainian Exchange. In contrast, CentrEnergo (CEEN) rose by 12% to UAH 3.20.

Among stocks of Ukrainian agricultural companies, performance was mixed. MHP (MHPC) shares added 1.2% to USD 3.43, Kernel (KER) gained by 2.4% to PLN 18.9, while Agroton (AGT) declined by 0.6% to PLN 3.23

On the currency front, the hryvnia edged up by 0.3% to 39.88 UAH/USD on the OTC cash market. The hryvnia has strengthened by 1.8% from 40.60 UAH/USD since the start of the year.

The IMF on Track to Discuss Full-Fledged Financing Program for Ukraine

by Dmitry Churin d.churin@eavex.com.ua

NEWS

IMF staff and the Ukrainian authorities have reached a staff-level agreement on the first and final review under the Monitoring Program. This agreement, which is subject to IMF Management approval, paves the way to initiate discussions on a fully-fledged Fund-supported program. A fully-fledged IMF program would be supportive of the Ukrainian government's efforts toward EU accession. Ukrainian authorities are making progress in reforms to strengthen governance, anti-corruption, and rule of law, and lay the foundations for postwar growth.

The IMF's Monitoring Program included, among others, the following items:

- submission by the government to the parliament of a package of draft laws on taxes aimed at increasing revenues;
- appointment of the Supervisory Board of state-owned natural gas operator NaftoGaz;
- coordination of key elements of diagnostics of the banking sector.

Also, within the framework of the IMF Mission, the measures of the National Bank to increase the attractiveness of assets in the national currency and to reduce the risks of a significant liquidity surplus of the banking system for price and macro-financial stability were discussed. It was emphasized that the National Bank was right by raising mandatory reserve standards for the banking system.

The previous IMF's credit program for Ukraine ended prematurely due to the outbreak of a full-scale war. After that, the IMF allocated emergency aid to Ukraine in the amount of USD 2.7bn.

COMMENTARY

There are expectations that the IMF will allocate USD 16bn to Ukraine. However, such a decision would require changes in the IMF's lending rules to allow the fund to lend to a country at war. In an optimistic scenario, all technical issues and coordination can be implemented by the end of March. Accordingly, the first tranche under the new program might arrive in Ukraine in April.

Currently, the Finance Ministry estimates the deficit of the state budget in the amount of USD 38bn in 2023. Most of this amount is planned to be covered by the loan from the EU for EUR 18bn and aid from the US for USD 9.9bn, but there remains a gap of almost USD 10bn. Thus, there is a significant need for funds from a possible new credit program with the IMF.

According to information from the government, the share of foreign aid in financing the budget deficit is approximately 70%. This is primarily because, unlike last year, the National Bank does not buy back UAH-denominated government bonds, avoiding the hryvnia emission.

Separately, we note that the Ukrainian side has assured the IMF that it has no intention to impose additional currency or trade restrictions that could complicate difficulties with the country's balance of payments. Moreover, the authorities emphasized the hope of lifting the existing restrictions as soon as the situation normalizes. While we do not expect the National Bank to return to market exchange rate formation on the foreign exchange market this year, we do not rule out the scenario that the regulator will decide to change the fixed official exchange rate of the hryvnia to the dollar from 36.57 to 39.13 UAH/USD, i.e. by 7% in order to bring the market to a more balanced state.

Investing in emerging markets' securities may entail certain risks. There may be limited information available on such securities. Securities of emerging markets' companies may be less liquid and their prices more volatile than securities of comparable developed markets' companies. In addition, exchange rate movements may have an adverse effect on the value of an investment.
